

Free Digital Universe

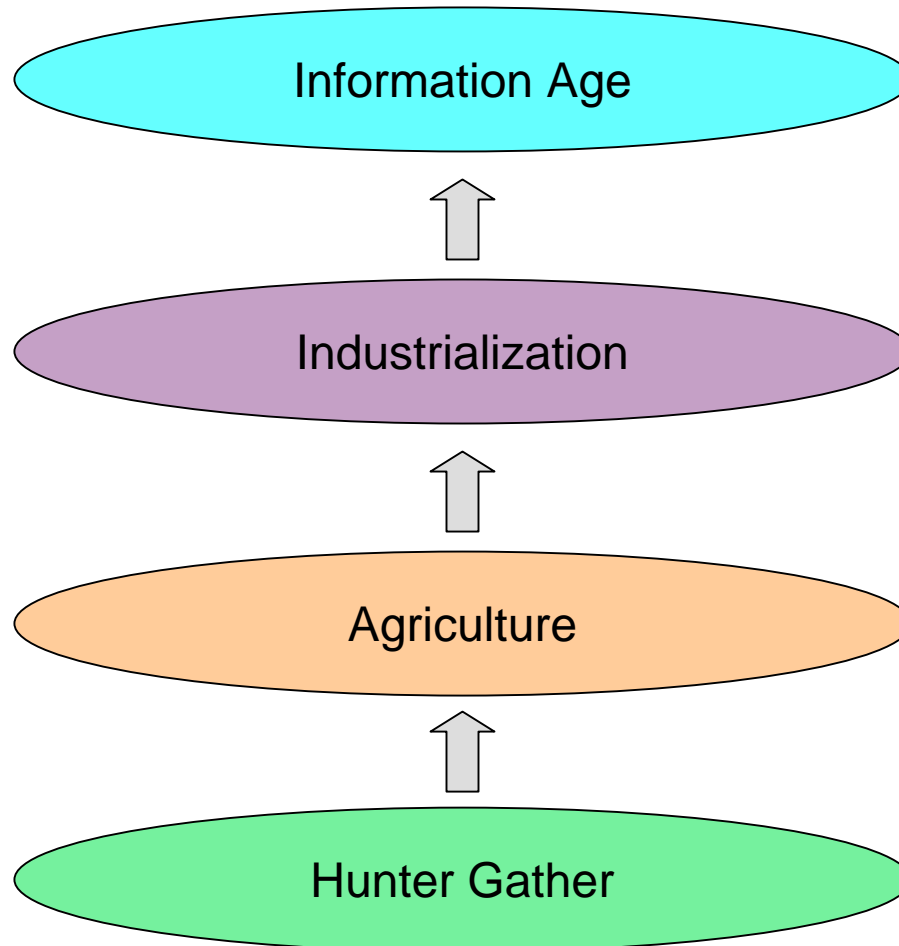

Here, You are a Co-Creator, Free

"The Universe does not burden you with a destiny. It provides you with potential.

How much of that potential you realize depends upon the choices that you make. At each moment you are given an opportunity to choose.

Your path is determined choice by choice – your choices, not the Universe's." ~ Gary Zukov

Context – The Information Age: The Fourth Stage of Human Development

FDU Purpose: Ease the Transition

The Free Digital Universe (FDU) is a non-violent Virtual World that serves as a Charitable Fundraiser, social forum, and personal wealth empowerment tool for easing the transition into the Information Age.

Game parameters (programming) and User contract are based on universal \(natural\) laws of creation. The Wholistic design is intended to produce an Information Age commerce system that will result in greater wealth and freedom for everyone, even those living in emerging countries, while also responding to ever-growing pressures on our natural environment.

Our Global Challenge

The Industrial Age economic model creates money out of thin air and requires the living people and the Earth pay the bill in labor and nature's resources. When people's labor pays the bill a debt crisis is eventually created with poverty the inevitable result; when nature pays the bill the environment is damaged.

Only a few hundred years old, this economic model based on competition and conflict has left our children a legacy of debt and a withering planetary environment.

"What an astounding thing it is to watch a civilization destroy its self because it is unable to re-examine the validity, under totally new circumstances, of an economic ideology." ~ Sir James Goldsmith

What Does the FDU Offer?

- A non-violent online Game for charity acting as a bridge to the Information Age
- A virtual free trade zone
- A private global cooperative using private law and a virtual currency which the User owns 100% - it is by contract unencumbered, Sovereign.
- A place where you can have more of everything your wanting, while having the resources to create the kind of world your dreaming about.
- An Alternative to the ruinous Industrial Age economic model that borrows against nature and peoples labor, causing poverty and worse.

Megapolitical Significance of the Information Age

- The average per-capita income of the top 15% of the world's population is approximately 20 times higher than the remaining 85% of the world
- This huge hoarded advantage is bound to dissipate under the new conditions of the information age

Megapolitical Significance of the Information Age

Anyone with a portable computer and a satellite link will be able to conduct almost any information business anywhere, and that includes almost the whole of the world's multi-trillion dollar financial transactions.

What is Missing?

"If the Internet is going to become the engine of global commerce it's cracked up to be, it needs a currency it can call its own - a currency as nonproprietary and international as the Internet itself."

~ Wired

Equalizing the Playing Field

- What if anyone, even the poor in Emerging markets had all of the things to be successful in the information age without all the hassles associated with establishing an online presence?
- What if you could do this without becoming an internet expert, staying focused on is of interest to you in life?

Will You be Ready?

To be successful in today's internet, one needs to:

- Have products and services to market;
- Design and build a website;
- Capture the attention of online users;
- Do internet and affiliate marketing;
- Arrange for merchant processing;
- Deploy hardware to host their site;
- Use the latest security to protect their customers from fraud and identity theft.

Introducing the Free Digital Universe
