

Every child, wherever they are born, has the right to education, and the potential to change their world, and by extension ours.

The Foundation seeks to nurture this potential in the children of Bolivia, and the rest of the world.

The Foundation believes that this aim can only be aided by the provision of a stable, healthy, free environment for children to learn and grow up in. Free from any oppression – fear, hunger or disease.

The Foundation seeks to implement programmes for the children of Bolivia and the rest of the world that improve access to education for all. The Foundation seeks to nurture and encourage children to think and explore the world they live in.

May we be responsible enough to equip the children of today, for the challenges of tomorrow, in recognition that they are the present, not only the future.

To the memory and in honour of parents who educated their children through the living example of their lives... we thank you, and pray we can do the same for some of the world's children wherever they are, and maybe one day, our own.
