

Are you a young Australian who:

- has ideas you want to implement?
- is already working on an idea and wants to network with others?
- finds the thought of doing something that's 'yours' really appealing?

Whether your ideas are about new businesses, environmental projects, or community based activities, the Blueprint project is about turning your ideas in to successful and effective action.

Blueprint workshops will be running all around Australia throughout 2003. Each workshop will provide young Australians like you with:

- examples of local young people who have successfully implemented their ideas
- fun activities that build your skills
- connections with other young enterprising Australians in your community.
